2^{ne} Assignment – Contact List

Report

This application that you will run will not be like anything you have seen before because, quite frankly, it will be so, so much worse...

Due to an oversight on my end, I have made this homework assignment much more difficult for myself than I had anticipated: I got ahead of myself and did the entirety of the Portrait portion of the assignment with Activities; Fragments would have relieved all the headaches for me since it is Android's solution to creating reusable interfaces.

Should I have had MainActivity and AddContact be fragments, constructing the contact list to fit a tablet in landscape mode would have been more efficient.
